WINDSHIELD CLEANING awaits those BYU students whose windows display outdated parking or registration permits, beginning Oct. 20. According to BYU traffic regulations, all but the current sticker must be removed from the windshield, to insure proper visibility.

Hyde Park Sparks Heated Debate: Can Religion Justify Vietnam?

By Scott Duncan
Universe Staff Writer

Monday's Hyde Park Free Forum was clearly a debate between hawks and doves. Emotions flared in crowded Memorial Lounge as about 200 students watched and participated in the discussion.

More than one-fourth of the statements derided the importance of the Vietnam problem and its influence on President Nixon. Robert Black, a senior in English from Provo, said the student was "one of the finest heads of state I have ever had." Greer King, also a senior in English, said in a wailing voice that her husband had been on the dissenters' side, and that Nixon for refusing to be swayed under duress.

Yellow cited results of a Harris poll showing 70 per cent of a cross section of Americans felt it was a mistake. Helmut Wenzel, a junior from Germany, challenged the statistics and was a copy of a similar Gallup poll. He then read the poll that 52 per cent of the same people derided President Nixon's handling of the war. Speaker countered that what was meant was not people felt "we're stuck there, we might do what we can."

Speakers expressed their disapproval for the state's actions. One reported that draft calls for are only three per cent lower than the year and said the apparent cut in the draft "to defuse public opinion."

Ky Kuoena, a junior in advertising-public relations, called the apparent pull-out of Vietnam a political thing, and said he was tired of and of political action.

Canman, a junior in law enforcement, said "playing around" was wasting the economy he lives of Americans. Another said the arms "has very serious implications for our government."

The opening statement was by Dummer, who is also a veteran of the war. He said, "The South Vietnamese Soldier is a good soldier," and stated that they were used "exclusively in the Tet offensive and the battle at Ben Het and that they were intelligent and 50 per cent were Christians."

He said later that the Vietnamese people wanted the United States in Vietnam and read from a letter written to him by a Vietnamese sergeant: "The war of Vietnam is a very long time" and "we thank army of allies that help Vietnam."

His statement and a counter-statement directly following were greeted by applause from different groups in the audience. In fact, the applauding groups seemed at times to be competing.

One of the most emotional topics was justification for the war. Dummer said The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints was well-established in Vietnam as a reason against pull-out.

A coed cited the commandment, "Thou shalt not kill," and called the war "morally wrong," also citing the 98th section of the Doctrine of Covenants to say that the United States should not war without asking the Lord first.

In a heated exchange Dummer accused another anti-war speaker of not following God's will. "Is your policy God's policy?" he asked. The student said, "What can I say?" and Dummer argued with someone else in the audience as the speaking went on.

Another person held that "our understanding diminishes as we hear meaningless statistics and speeches," and said, "We kill Communists, not people." He said Americans have historically hated people that were different, and that they shouldn't fight a war when they couldn't even understand themselves.

Few concrete solutions were given. Sheldon Miller, a senior from Provo, said the Nixon policy was for pullout by 1972 and that the only question was how to get out honorably.

Task Force: "No Simple Solution"

Three alternative solutions to the problem of Vietnam were discussed by the Task Force Vietnam, which emphasized "there is no simple solution." The three are: escalation, immediate withdrawal and phase-reduction taking with South Vietnamese takeover of the war effort.

"Objectivity" was the key to the presentation of the International Relations Dept. in the Varsity Theater yesterday.

Combining visual aids with a scholarly script, the students of the Force tried to give the maximum of information in the minimum amount of time.

Slides were flashed across the theater screen to coincide with the research presented. The program explored the whole scope of Vietnam.

Statistics were cited where needed but the personal side of the war was also emphasized with slides of people from all groups involved in the war.

History has been shown to be important in understanding the Vietnam war, thus the history of Vietnam was traced back 1,000

B.C. when the present Vietnamese first came to the country.

The advent of the Chinese and the French was traced through the 1959 French defeat at Dien Bien Phu by the Viet Minh whose leader was the late Ho Chi Minh. Interesting to note was that the United States at one time helped to train the Viet Minh and at another time picked up the French military bill.

Examined thoroughly were the Geneva Peace talks which the United States and South Vietnam did not sign. The documents which came from the talks were described as being "hastily drawn up."

In coming into the modern era of the war, the Task Force examined the question, "who are the Vietcong: communists or nationalists?"

The war's ramifications on the United States were mentioned. Some of these are Johnson's defeat as President and the election campaigns of President Nixon and Hubert Humphrey, inflation, and the increased criticism after the Tet offensive.

Pacification is, according to the Task Force, the most important question-mark in South Vietnam. The Sino-Soviet rift and North Vietnam's place in it were also discussed.

The task-force concluded, "This generation will have a crucial role in the shaping of the future of South Vietnam."

Utah Symphony Plays

The Utah Symphony Orchestra, under the distinguished baton of Maestro Maurice Abravanel, will perform a morning concert at the BYU forum assembly today at 10 a.m. in the Smith Fieldhouse.

"Hoodown" from Copland's Rodeo Suite will be one of the featured numbers on the program. Other selections will include the works of Purcell, Bach, Britten and Prokofiev.

Dr. A. Harold Goodman, chairman of the BYU Music Dept., promises "an interesting and exciting program for music students and lay listeners alike," and urges all students to attend.

Under Mr. Abravanel's direction, the orchestra has grown extensively and is now recognized among the top 12 symphony orchestras in the United States.

The Utah Symphony is the only professional orchestra serving a combined land area of more than a quarter million square miles, including all of Utah and parts of Idaho, Nevada, Wyoming and Colorado. Each year the Symphony travels some 8,000 miles, giving a total of 160 concerts last year before a combined audience of well over 300,000.

Maestro Abravanel has conducted many important orchestras in his studies throughout the world, including the Los Angeles Symphony, the New York Philharmonic, the NBC Symphony, the Berlin State Opera, the Paris Grand Opera and the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra.

He was born in Greece and educated in Switzerland, Germany and France. After taking over the fledgling Utah Symphony in 1947, Mr. Abravanel built it through many crises to an orchestra of international acclaim with more than 50 recordings to its credit.

Missing Freshman Stirs Intermountain Alert

A missing BYU student is the object of a search by police throughout the intermountain area.

Steven Douglas Woodman, 18, a freshman from Alamosa, Colo., has not been seen since Monday, Oct. 6.

His roommate in "S" Hall of Deseret Towers residence halls said Woodman was not in the room when he came from the library Monday night, and the youth has not returned.

All of his belongings, including clothes, books and money were still in the room.

The missing student's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Woodman, actually started the search when Steven did not return an expected call and they asked the BYU Security Office to check.

They reported that when he called them on Oct. 4 he was despondent and wanted to drop out of school, but his parents encouraged him to remain.

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Gen. Emílio Garrastazu Médici, chosen by Brazil's military rulers to be the nation's next president, will be inaugurated Oct. 30, informed sources report.

The military junta, which took over the presidential powers Aug. 31 after President Arthur da Costa e Silva had a stroke, issued an executive order Tuesday night declaring the presidency vacant because Costa e Silva is "totally incapable of exercising his duties fully." The vice presidency, held by a civilian under Costa e Silva, also was declared vacant.

Another executive order said Congress, chosen by Costa e Silva suspended indefinitely last December, will be recalled to elect the new president and vice president. Informed sources said Congress will meet Oct. 21 and elect Médici Oct. 25.

The navy minister, Adm. Augusto Rademaker, is expected to be the military's choice for vice president.

QUEBEC (AP) — Jean de Lipkowski, French secretary of state for foreign affairs, says the fact that he is not going to Ottawa during his current visit to Canada shows that the French government has not changed its policy toward Quebec since the resignation of President Charles de Gaulle.

De Lipkowski, the first French minister to visit Quebec since the election of President Georges Pompidou, told a news conference Tuesday night:

"We wanted to be clear and to show that there was no sudden change on our part, that the visit by the first French minister after the departure of Gen. De Gaulle would thus demonstrate that French policy has not changed."

De Gaulle outraged the Canadian government during a visit to Montreal in 1967 by shouting the slogan of the Quebec separatist movement, "Vive Quebec libre" — long live free Quebec. The Canadian government rebuked him, and he canceled a visit to Ottawa.

De Lipkowski said direct contacts between minister from France and Quebec are authorized under cultural and educational agreements approved by Ottawa. But he said Ottawa is not "out of bounds" for French cabinet ministers, who would visit the capital "if they have a precise subject to discuss."

RECKLINGHAUSEN, Germany (AP) — Eleven of the 18 men in an official delegation from Brno, Czechoslovakia, have asked West German authorities for political asylum, a spokesman in this Ruhr industrial city said today.

The delegation's five left Recklinghausen for Brno Sunday with only seven city officials abroad, the spokesman said. Three of the refugees asked for work in Recklinghausen. The other eight left to join relatives in other parts of West Germany.

NATIONAL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed and sent to the Senate a $4.3 billion federal pay bill President Nixon has threatened to veto because he feels it will undercut his efforts to fight inflation.

The measure provides annual pay raises to federal employees and gives postal workers their second wage increase in four months.

Nixon said—prior to passage of the bill Tuesday—he would have to slash government payrolls and cut back federal programs if Congress approves the pay hikes.

House Republican Leader Gerald Ford of Michigan said Nixon finds its measure "unacceptable" and would veto it if it reaches his desk in its present form.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Admitting earlier proposals for new penalties for possession of marijuana seem "excessively harsh," a Nixon administration spokesman says new penalties are being drafted.

The spokesman, Dr. Sidney Cohen, said legislation proposed last summer by Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell providing prison sentences of two to 10 years and fines of up to $20,000 for possession of marijuana is "excessively harsh."

But Cohen, director of the National Institute of Mental Health's drug abuse division, declined Tuesday to provide details of the new proposals, saying only they would be "far less harsh."

Cohen appeared before Select House Committee on Crime. He said, however, that marijuana use poses enough of a problem—to both society and to users—it should not be free from criminal penalties.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Post Office Committee has approved in principle a plan to remove the postmaster general from the President's Cabinet and give him a nine-year appointment.

The amendment to a postal reform bill was approved by the committee Tuesday. The main bill, sponsored by Chairman Thaddeus J. Dulski (D-N.Y.) rejects the Nixon administration proposal for a postal corporation, but puts the Post Office on a more business-like basis.

The amendment, sponsored by Rep. H. R. Gross (R-Iowa) eliminates the requirement for Senate confirmation of top Post Office assistants. Another Gross amendment seeks to eliminate the practice of selecting post-masters from nominees put up by the political party in power.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Families of men ordered to Vietnam won't be allowed to stay in government quarters here any longer, the Navy announced Tuesday.

The order, issued by Rear Adm. Marshall Dornin, 11th Naval District commander, cited a critical shortage of military housing. Only 20 or 30 families of 70 men already in Vietnam will be given special permission to remain in the government quarters.

Federal Grants

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate sent to President Nixon Tuesday a bill authorizing $63 million to continue the program of federal grants for construction of public or educational television and radio stations.

The measure authorizes $20 million for the current fiscal year and $15 million each for the next three years.

POINTS TO ADD

Editor,

We are appreciative of your article "BYU Leaders Fend Off Challenge" (Monday, Oct. 13, 1969). There were however, a few points we would like to add and emphasize for the act of clarification.

Primarily, we would like to express our gratitude for the support of the student body officers of the University of Wyoming, Arizona State University and the University of Wyoming who voted with BYU against the resolutions to "sever all relations with BYU". Their moderate and patient attitudes were very encouraging to the BYU delegates.

It is of interest, and we think significant, that the BYU representatives to the Western Collegiate Association have always received polite and responsive treatment at these semi-annual conferences and it is noteworthy that two of the three principal offices of the Western Collegiate Association are members of our student body.

There was little animosity present at the conference and this too was encouraging. During the long discussions of Friday night, patience was at times tried and tempers near to eruption, but given the late hour, this was not surprising. Generally, the atmosphere was polite and cordial. We parted on friendly terms with all delegates and thus we found heartening in view of the intolerance witnessed in our generation elsewhere in the last few years.

SUMMER OFFICERS

Editor,

The following matter involving the appointed summer school officers and the elected student body officers Marnee Brown and Reed Halladay (who served summer terms) is of concern to the student body.

During the summer the summer vice presidents allotted themselves a total of $505 in the form of "stipends." They justified this by the fact that they were not buying blazers. This was done without consulting the present student body president.

According to one vice president these officers preferred to decide personally how to spend the money, rather than spending it on the trade blazers.

Each vice president decided his own how much money deserved for his efforts. Her list as recorded in the office finance of the money received: Nick Horn, $100; Tom Hart, Van Harrison, $25; Ron S. $35; Jay Baldwin, $35; Danielson, $50; Jan Perkins Scott Barrett, $50; Halladay, $100. Marnee had declined to take any money.

According to their own blazers, these officers had the legal right to take this money.

Perhaps, in fact, student officers might deserve much for their service. But should be able to decide how much deserve for themselves? Is this setting a dangerous precedent? Should not the matter of salary left up to the student body elected them?

In view of what happened student body has the right to the following questions: officer and of faculty. Student body officers be able to themselves money personal use without the consent of the student body? Has a self-allotment of stipend precedent? Does the student desire this to continue? much is an elected student officer entitled to receive year in the form of scholarship and free front-row to concerts and other acts?

LOTS OF GIRLS

Editor:

This letter is in answer to "girl seeking boys" who let the Drought in the Land letti.

I was to the same dance they used as an example and lots of attractive girls not dance because they hadn't been by the alleged 100 stag fellow dance. Where were the seeking boys' looking?

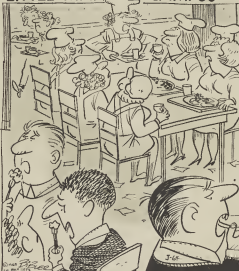

I have noticed an overabundance of stag dances, conventional dances, which is one thing to me. These girls interested in being able to tell their partner and being a qualified dancer—something that is difficult to do at contemporary dances because you dance yourself and have to shout around the music, if you really call it music.

If the "girl seeking boys" want to find the girls, come to conventional dances.

"Wished I'd gone

P.S. I assume that you can put this letter without a sign since you published the seeking boys' without a sign. Besides, I wouldn't want to my date's feelings by letting know that I wished I had stag.

Interstate System Advances

Great Projects Key Ambitious Road Program

Exclusive to the Universe
With the great prospects for the population growth of this state, it is only reasonable that expansion of state and interstate highway systems be inevitable.

In a meeting only last week in Carson City, Nevada, the question of whether or not Interstate 70 (a new Denver to San Francisco route) should be extended westward from Cove Fort, Utah across Nevada was discussed. This move, if it had been approved, would have added over one hundred miles to the Utah interstate program.

Originally the better than 7,000 miles of interstate in Utah was to have been completed by 1969. However, due to increases in the national program, federal highway funds were forced to diffuse over greater area. Present plans to add more than 2,500 miles to the national interstate system could starve funds to a point where the interstates will never be finished, warned the Utah State Highway Director in an exclusive interview to THE DAILY UNIVERSE. The director went on to caution citizens that all efforts should be turned toward completing those projects in which we are presently engaged.

One of the projects in Utah which has a high priority is the new I-70 section through the San Rafael Swell area in central Utah. This stretch of highway will present the first direct route from PARLEY'S CANYON INTERCHANGE is only one example of the classic designs of new interstate programs in Utah.

Denver to Los Angeles. State authorities, including Gov. Calvin Rampton agree that this highway, when completed, will be one of the most scenic stretches in the nation and one of the most functional highways to be built under the whole national program.

Another section which is crying out for completion is the 32 mile piece of road through the Virgin

River Canyon in southern Utah. This important part of I-15 will cut at least 30 minutes off the travel time to and from Los Angeles and Las Vegas into Utah. Some of the problems state highway engineers have encountered going through this canyon have really made going tough. Stretches of the highway through this area are suspended from the canyon walls.

MANY PROJECTS will benefit the Central Utah area, especially Utah County. One example is the new diagonal in Provo.

Inter Around Provo

Exclusive to the Universe

as of high priority for Interstate and highway improvements in state of Utah are the central Utah districts, primarily Utah County. Provo, the new diagonal carries traffic directly from I-15 to the campus. This section of road cost approximately one and three million dollars to construct. Sections of Highway 6 and 50 through Price Canyon are to be used and updated considerably in the near future to facilitate the flow of traffic east and west between Spanish Fork and Price. Provo Canyon, the U.S. Department of Highways received the act for the first section of road expansion in that area. This section on U.S. Highway 89 will soon feature a two lane highway with right of way for expansion for four lanes.

The recent widening of I-15 through northern Utah County from two to three also represents an increase of traffic in this area.

PROPOSED ALIGNMENT OF INTERSTATE HIGHWAY NO. 15 BETWEEN NORTH LEHI AND DRAPER CROSSROADS

WORK HAS BEGUN on the section of Interstate between North Lehi and Utah State Prison on I-15. This much-needed addition has been the scene of many brutal crashes.

Highway Director:

Utah Drivers Spell Highway Problems

Exclusive to the Universe

"People of this state are going to have to learn how to drive before the Interstate is going to do them any good," according to Henry Helland, director of highways.

He continued by emphasizing that some of the people who have been driving for 20 years or so, still don't know how to drive. He feels that Utah should initiate an educational program for all drivers. It is now necessary to have a driver's training course to get your driver's license, but he feels there should be something more. Utah drivers, he says, think they own the road.

THE ENTIRE SYSTEM of interstate projects should be completed by 1976. Delays may result if the Federal government takes steps to increase the mileage on the total interstate programs.

Harmann WAC Player of Week

By Bob Oakley
Asst. Sports Editor

Gary Harmann, BYU defensive tackle, has been named as co-winner of this week's Athlete of the Week award together with Chip Jackson, and also named WAC defensive player of the week. The two were honored as a result of their fine performances against the New Mexico Lobos.

Gary was also named earlier this week as the WAC Defensive Player of the Week to sweep the defensive honors.

Harmann, nicknamed "Pontiac" by his teammates, has been a starter in the tough BYU defensive unit for the past three seasons. Up until this year his position has always been at defensive tackle but this year Coach Huddsperth found himself with an exceptional number of promising defensive tackles and found the defensive and slot weak. So "Pontiac" accepted the assignment and began the season at the defensive end post.

That opening game against Colorado State found Gary and Dennis Finrock alternating at the spot. Finrock played an outstanding game and the coaches decided to move Gary back to his familiar place.

Gary, a product of Phoenix, Ariz., stands 6'2" and although the program lists him as weighing 230 lbs. he actually weighs close to 250.

Harmann played an outstanding game against the Lobos. He alone had two unassisted tackles, 13 assisted tackles, a fumble recovery and a blocked punt to anson 38 points on his defensive grid, which is one of the highest a BYU player has ever scored.

Speaking of the game Gary said, "Scarbar ran hard but the offensive line wasn't much. They were just lacking experience."

Both Gary's fumble recovery and blocked punt set up BYU touchdowns. About the fumble recovery Gary commented, "It was a broken play. I went by the block and the guy almost handed it off to me. It fell between us and I just got on it."

Looking forward to the Saturday game with the Wyoming Cowboys, Gary says, "We're going to beat them this weekend and we're going to beat them all."

The magneck pheasant may not be a native species, but he's no newcomer either. He landed in New York State first between 1728 and 1731 when Gov. James Montgomery stocked several dozen on what is now known as Governor's Island in New York harbor.

Deer Hunt To Begin Saturday

By Bruno Vassel III
Fish and Game Writer

May I preface my remarks by saying that all of us who go hunting or fishing this year should, in the words of others, do so with frowns on our faces, a tear in our eye and the knowledge that our views and standards are all wrong. Isn't it great to have people so concerned enough over us that they will share with us how they think we should live in all this?

FOLLOW UP

Every year far too many deer are shot and then left to die in the woods. No, most of the guys don't do it on purpose but from sheer lack of knowing better. Even a heart-lung shot, which is usually better than a neck shot, will not always drop a deer in its tracks. Many a well-hit deer, especially if hit on the run, will run over a ridge or into some trees before falling.

Last year I tracked a deer for almost a mile in a foot of snow. It was obvious that the guy who had shot off the creature's lower jaw was not following up his shot. All he would have had to do was to walk over to where the doe had been standing in order to see the tracks and bring trail of blood. There is no excuse for this kind of hunting or hunter!

A cardinal rule in hunting is to ALWAYS go over to where the animal was and look for blood, hair or other signs of a hit. Remember that many, many deer will not drop in their tracks. If you are not too inebriated with buck fever you will usually be able to hear a "thud" sound as the bullet hits the deer—go over check anyway.

No buck is worth the price of human life! The best way to ensure that you do not cause hunting accident, or the shoe of a cow, horse or elk, is remember to NEVER shoot ANYTHING until you are sure what it is.

TASTY VENISON

Since so many people interested in the deer meat would be good to mention the secret of good tasting venison is in how you treat the deer! The first time you see it until meat is in your locker. If were to chase a cow all over mountain, get shoot it and chase it until it fell, have it and then clean it out and later in the afternoon put it in the front of your car and at home, how would it taste? We deer is about the same.

Quick kills and FAST cooking and bleeding of the meat will be the best way to ensure that will be able to eat the meat. Fish and Game in Provo has a good pamphlet on the care of deer from start to finish. booklet is free.

WHERE TO GO

Many, many deer are taken from the mountains all around Provo each year and this year probably be no exception. matter where you go there should be some deer but remember we have had a good year for it and water so the deer will spread out pretty well. Although there is some snow at high elevations this does not mean all the deer are now down in valleys. Some of the deer probably be moving to low elevations but the big bucks mind a foot or two of snow now.

Because of the weather, ch a shovel, some road and W clothing should be a must a with the required red hat and or vest. Good luck and please careful!

Polo Action Today

By Al O'Hara

Universe Sports Writer
 With the new Western Athletic conference sanction permitting polo to function as an official conference sport, the polo-men have been reacting furiously to ready selves for the initial meet of season with the University of Utah today at 6 p.m. in Provo. Forfeiting the Cougar attack to Indoor All-American Eric on, who has started for the last two years. Sorting him and rounding out first string are Paul Cohen, Jack Grant, Jess Allen, Richard Funk and either Lyn or Lloyd Pettigrew. The Cougars have almost the team returning from last year's squad which compiled a respectable 5-1 record in school play. Along with the returning veterans will be four promising freshmen. Greg Shaw and Randy Herbert are petting for one of the starting as a goalie and Coach Bestor picked Steve Baker as the promising freshman to pet on the Cougar squad in time. Coach Rolfe Bestor has stated that the Cougars should be a week or two ahead of the in training, which would give a quite an edge. The Cats manded a 3-and-1 record the Redmen last year, which added one-point victories in all games played between the two sides.

The Cougars are eyeing the NCAA tournament in Long Beach this year and will be trying to qualify for that tournament at Colorado State in November. If the Cats are able to qualify, it will enable them to participate in the nationals against some of the top names in the nation.

New York Needs Only One More

Now only one victory away from completing one of baseball's most incredible success stories, the National League champion Mets can wrap up the best-of-seven classic Thursday in the fifth game at Shea Stadium.

After Baltimore tied the game in the ninth inning, Jerry Grote opened the 10th for the Mets against loser Dick Hall with a pop fly double into left field when Don Buford apparently lost sight of the ball.

Donn Clendenon gave the Mets a 1-0 lead when he led off the second with a drive over the left field fence off Mike Cuellar.

Seaver, a 25-game winner but a loser to Cuellar in the series opener, made the run stand up until the ninth inning when, with one out, Frank Robinson and Boog Powell each singled. Then rightfielder Ron Swoboda made a fantastic diving catch off Brooks Robinson's liner and Frank Robinson scored the tying run after the catch.

Jackson Top Cat

By Bob Hudson

Asst. Sports Editor

In recognition of their efforts, both Jackson and Gary Harman will receive haircuts from the Wilkinson Center Barber Shop and pizzas from Rich's Pizza House.

Kip Jackson, a junior business major from Los Altos, Calif. single-handedly ruined New Mexico's rushing defense last Saturday night as he rolled up 155 yards and added 16 yards on two pass receptions. For his efforts, Kip has been named athlete of the week along with teammate Gary Harman, who set a team record for defensive points in the game.

Kip attended Los Altos High School where he participated in football, basketball, baseball and track. He was effective enough in basketball to receive offers from various schools to compete in that sport.

Jackson has rolled up over 300 yards on the ground in the first four games of the season for an average of 4.6 yards per carry. He has scored two touchdowns for the Cats in an on-again, off-again offensive year.

The Cats are indeed fortunate to have Kip. All other Western Athletic Conference members thought enough of him to offer him grants-in-aid. He also was given a chance to attend such prestige schools as Colorado and Nebraska in the Big Eight.

He barely missed out on being named this week's WAC back of the week. Utah's Ray Groth, who helped the Utes defeat Arizona State, won the honor by the narrowest of margins.

Prof's Outline 'Only' Viet Option

By Charlotte Anstee
Universe Staff Writer

"I think the only options open to President Nixon right now are either maintaining our present position or de-escalating," Dr. Stan Tullis said Wednesday as he discussed Vietnam.

Dr. Taylor, coordinator of BYU's International Relations Dept., and Dr. Lamond Tullis of the Political Science Dept. fielded student questions at 1:30 p.m. in the Varsity Theater as the Young Democrats sponsored a session in conjunction with the Vietnam Moratorium.

Before the questions began, Omar Kader, YD president, announced that club members had been asked to spend the night fasting and praying "for the war."

"I think the question of morality is... interesting to some degree in the Vietnam war," Dr. Taylor said, noting U.S. involvement in an "old war" is something no leader has really desired. Decisions on Vietnam were made in 1945.

Dr. Tullis observed, "our reasons for doing that we do in the underdeveloped world today is immoral and large... we do so that tend to thwart the political and social change."

"Underlying conditions surrounding countries can be appreciably altered by solution in South Vietnam," Tullis said.

He characterized Vietnamese situation as a "situation which can be Communist exploitation resulting when expectations tend to rise more rapidly than the change of the political and social to satisfy those values."

"In a technical sense this is something any international conspiracy," Dr. Taylor said. "There are mainly national global policies."

Dr. Tullis observed that a tendency among many world's people to reject United States is involved in a global conspiracy of capitalism against the "developing world" and the fostered by U.S. and governments, not only Vietnam, more because anti-communism than they institute social reform.

As both professors agreed either escalation or withdrawal would be disastrous, Dr. Tullis what he termed "the immoral way to disengage."

His proposal was that the United States should withdraw from Vietnam to gain the trust of the South Vietnamese through land reforms and social change apparently the interests of the regime "now."

He said this could be giving the Thieu government a deadline (one month) for instituting reform, facing with the alternative of total without American support.

Dr. Taylor characterized Nixon administration's policy for a Vietnamese solution to continue to indicate to the Vietnamese "a willingness to bring about reciprocity."

Human Relations Group To Meet

AFROTC Rates National Attention

National and intermountain attention is focusing on BYU's 18-year-old Air Force ROTC program this year.

While ROTC programs at many other universities have decreasing enrollments, at BYU the Air Force ROTC has shown a five per cent increase in enrollment—from 407 last year to 428 at the completion of fall semester instruction this year.

If there have been anti-ROTC discussions and withdrawals of academic credit from ROTC programs at some universities, at BYU strong support of ROTC has been given by administrators and faculty members.

In an address to the student body a year ago, President Ernest L. Wilkinson said, "You cannot only serve your country but also your church and yourself by preparing for leadership in our military services... these objectives are best accomplished by seeking a commission through either the Army or Air Force ROTC programs which the Board of Trustees has made a particular effort to provide for you."

Intermountain attention has also been attracted by the selection of BYU's Bernard F. Fisher Squadron of Arnold Air Society (AAS) as headquarters for AAS squadrons at seven universities in Colorado, Wyoming, and Utah.

staff, however, includes the following BYU seniors:

Deputy Group Commander Larry Eastman, a business management major from Alaska; Operations Officer Doug Diehl, political science, Calif.; Administrations Officer Robert Kaufmann, physics, Calif.; Personnel Officer Guy Frost, graduate of BYU and native of Las Vegas, Nev., is assuming duty as the freshman instructor and adviser. Additional assignments include teaching navigation to the seniors involved in the Flight Instruction Program.

The new instructor for juniors and the adviser to the Arnold Air Society comes to BYU from a accounting, Utah; Inspector Jim Price, history, Utah; Personnel Services Officer Jim McGuire, economics, Utah;

Material Officer Doug Hafen, electrical engineering, Nev.; Information Officer Lynn Packham, journalism, Utah; Comptroller Lynn Whyte, accounting, Idaho; Special Projects Officer Aaron Orullian, psychology, Calif.

Aiding in the instruction of Air Force ROTC cadets this year are two BYU alumni and one graduate of Utah State University—all coming "home" from overseas assignments.

Capt. James A. Moss, a 1963

three-year assignment in Germany. Capt. Dean T. Buckner, now in his fifth year with the Air Force, is a 1964 BYU graduate. Capt. Buckner was branch president at the Bitburg Air Base in West Germany.

Capt. Harold Stock, a graduate of Utah State University, is instructor and AFROTC adviser to the senior cadets. Capt. Stock received his master of science degree in industrial engineering through an Air Force education program and Texas A. & M. He is a returnee from Vietnam where he was a council member in one of the three districts for Mormon servicemen.

A LESSER KNOWN course of instruction in BYU's AFROTC is Junior Officer Training. Here tac officer Gary Pittard gives instructions to juniors entering the Professional Officer Corps at BYU.

Last May, 40 Air Force ROTC cadets received commissions in the U.S. Air Force—the fifth largest Air Force ROTC graduating class in the nation, according to personnel at BYU's Department of Aerospace Studies.

Forty-seven BYU cadets are presently planning to receive commissions in 1970, with a forecast of over 70 cadets for 1971. This is a measurement of the active program implemented by Professor of Aerospace Studies Col. Lawrence H. Johsson, since his arrival at BYU in 1968.

Maj. Gayle D. Heckel, commandant of cadets, is supervising BYU cadet activities and functions.

A Y senior in civil engineering from Melba, Ida., cadet Col. Ronald Rowen directs the cadet group activities this semester. He and his staff are responsible for instruction in drill and ceremonies, military customs and courtesies and an orientation into military life.

All positions in the cadet group are rotated each semester to provide the maximum leadership training for all cadets.
